Your completed questions form part of the coursework required for assessment. Please contact Training Support for details of how to submit your work.

Please avoid 'short' answers of just a few words – answer the questions as fully as you can.

1. Why is beneficial to cover left turns before right turns?

2. Suggest three key questions that you could ask a learner who has come to you from different driving school and is doing an 'approaching left' lesson for the first time.

3. Briefly explain why a learner who has not been making mirror errors on simple left turns might make mirror errors on more complex left turns or when starting right turns.

4. While in role in one of the videos John gave the excuse that 'there was no one behind' after making a signalling error. What advice would you give if a learner said this (following any signalling error in any situation).

5. Based on your study for this subject, what is the most likely reason for positioning errors and how would you correct them?

6. Based on your study of the course so far, what would be the likely effect of giving your learner a late route direction when approaching a junction to turn left?
