Study instructions

To ensure that you have a full range of knowledge, we suggest that you complete as many DVSA or questions from other sources that you have access to (Discs, books, online, etc.).

The time taken to complete your revision/top-up study at this point will depend on how many questions you choose to answer and how much time you have spent with your books while working through the course so far. If you have studied the course as directed there will be very little or no extra research required.

The question marking sheets follow a similar format, but this time you simply mark your 'confidence score'. Because the answers are given alongside the questions in the book it is awkward to use the material as a test (unless you cover the answers. However, you know how you FEEL about the answer to each question.

Ask yourself, 'Do I really know this' - trust your feeling and be honest, otherwise you will just be cheating yourself.

Research the answers that have a low confidence score using your reference books and other information sources and then start your next session by returning to the 'low confidence' questions, reallocating a confidence rating.

We suggest that you work through the book systematically doing 50 questions at a time; however, if there is a particular band that you feel 'weak' in, it might be better to start with that section.

*Print out the marking and other sheets as required.

Marking sheet for additional Questions

Question resource ref.

Starting at question no.

Finishing at question no.

Use this marking sheet to record confidence score for each question. Research your answers to the low confidence questions and then look at them again at the start of your next study session.

Allow a maximum of 35 minutes to go through the questions.
